

Digital Marketing Campaign Proposal for a New Product Launch Brief. 30.11.2025

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

Question after industry sector and Industry sub-sector selected dropdown template auto-load and quick or standard proposal is selected, or the User has used NLP to select the sector and sub-sector (example below is for a Standard Proposal selected).

(User can type or speak responses; AI recognises intent and fills the proposal slots dynamically)

The User has selected Marketing (Industry Sector), & Marketing Campaign (Sub-Sector).

AI (friendly tone):

"I've set up your proposal with the standard sections for [Industry Sector]. I will ask you a series of questions to help you complete each section of your proposal. We'll move step-by-step from start to finish, but you can jump ahead or change anything at any time. Are you ready to start?"

(User: "I'm happy to start", "Let's move on", or "Yes, let's get started")

Step 1 – Proposal Details

AI:

Great. Before we begin, do you want a Quick proposal or a Standard proposal?

User:

Quick proposal please.

AI:

Okay. "Do you have a title for this proposal, or would you like me to make a few suggestions?"

User:

I have a title. The title is, "Digital Marketing Launch Campaign Proposal".

AI:

Perfect. Who is the proposal for?

User:

BrightWave Consumer Electronics Ltd.

AI:

Got it. BrightWave Consumer Electronics Ltd. And what service are we proposing?

User:

A digital marketing campaign for their new product launch.

AI:

Understood. Who should be listed as the proposal preparer?

User:

BlueFox Creative Agency.

AI:

Date today is 12 February 2026. Should I use that as the preparation date?

Digital Marketing Campaign Proposal for a New Product Launch Brief. 30.11.2025

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

User:

Yes.

AI:

And how long should the proposal remain valid?

User:

Until 30 March 2026.

Step 2 – Executive Summary

AI:

Okay. Let's summarise the proposal in plain English. Here's a starter draft:

"We propose a targeted digital marketing campaign to support the product launch of BrightWave's new smart home device, focusing on audience engagement, brand visibility, and conversion-driven content."

Would you like this to sound more persuasive, more energetic, or keep it neutral?

User:

More energetic.

AI:

Okay, done. I added energy and momentum to highlight campaign impact.

Step 3 – Scope of Work

AI:

Here's a draft scope of work for a digital marketing campaign:

- Campaign concept and creative direction
- Social media content creation
- Paid advertising setup and optimisation
- Influencer outreach
- Landing page messaging
- Performance analytics and reporting

Would you like to add or remove anything?

User:

Can you add email marketing and A/B testing?

AI:

Added, with the preview updated.

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

Step 4 – Delivery Timeline

AI:

When should we begin the campaign?

User:

1 May 2026.

AI:

And when should the campaign conclude?

User:

31 June 2026.

Step 5 – Responsibilities

AI:

Here's a draft responsibility split:

BlueFox Creative Agency:

Creative development, content production, campaign management, analytics, and reporting.

Client:

Providing brand assets, product information, timely approvals, and access to analytics tools.

Want me to change the tone, to more collaborative, more formal, or more casual?

User:

More collaborative.

AI:

Okay, updated. Now written as shared partnership responsibilities.

Step 6 – Commercial

AI:

Would you like me to include the total cost?

User:

Yes. Total cost is £14,500 excluding VAT.

AI:

Would you like to include a detailed cost breakdown or state that it's available on request?

User:

Available on request.

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

Step 7 – Terms & Conditions

AI:

Your default T&Cs are:

- 40% deposit upon approval
- Balance due within 30 days of invoice
- Standard campaign management SLA applies
- Proposal valid for 30 days

Keep these or would you like to adapt?

User:

Keep them as is please.

Step 8 – Conclusion

AI:

Here's a closing line:

"We look forward to delivering an engaging, high-impact campaign that accelerates your product launch success."

Want this more urgent, more inspiring, or neutral?

User:

More inspiring.

AI:

Updated, with the final line now emphasises momentum and brand growth.

9. Contact Information

AI:

Would you like me to add your existing contact details to this proposal, or do you prefer different contact details?

User:

My existing contact details please.

AI:

Digital Marketing Campaign Proposal for a New Product Launch Brief. 30.11.2025

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

“Great. Just to confirm, here are your contact details:

For further details or clarifications, please contact:

Name: [Your Name]

Phone: [Your Company Number]

Email: [Your Email]”

The preview is updated.”

User:

Great.

AI:

If you want, I can also convert this into the final proposal document content as it would appear to the client.

User:

No need thanks. I am happy with the proposal as viewed in the live proposal preview, which I will run by my team, before we format the proposal into one of our branded templates.

.”

Save & Output (selected by User).

AI:

“All set. I’ve saved both your Q&A chat history and the proposal draft. You can export as Word, PDF, or HTML from the top right menu. Want me to send you a quick summary of what we’ve built?”

(User: “No need for a summary, I’ll read the preview as it is. Thank you.”)

Confirmation Before Critical Actions

Before exporting or saving, AI validates consistency.

Example

AI:

“Your proposal has a Delivery Timeline but no Financials yet. Would you like to export anyway or go back and complete Financials first?”

(User chooses one → proposal finalised or held.)

(User: “I am aware some sections are empty, but I wish to export the proposal as it is.”)

Further examples of AI questions, depending on the User response:

AI (friendly tone):

Digital Marketing Campaign Proposal for a New Product Launch Brief. 30.11.2025

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

"I've set up your proposal with the standard sections for [Industry Sector]. I will ask you a series of questions to help you complete each section of your proposal. We'll move step-by-step from start to finish, but you can jump ahead or change anything at any time. Are you ready to start?"
(User: "No, I would like to make changes to the proposal format")

AI:

"Which proposal sections would you like to add, remove, or customise before we start filling them in?"

(User: "I would like to change [User describes which item requires a change]")

After completing a section

AI:

"That's the [Executive Summary] done. Do you want to add another section, tweak what we just wrote, or move on?"

(User: "No, I'm happy to move on")

If user says, "add another section"

AI:

"Got it. What's the title for this new section?"

(User responds)

"And what would you like it to cover?"

(User responds)

"Okay — I'll draft that for you now"

If user says, "tweak this one"

AI:

"Sure — tell me what you'd like to adjust in the [Executive Summary]."

(User responds)

"Updating that now... done. Would you like to review it again or move forward?"

If user says, "move on"

AI:

"Alright, next up is [Scope of Work]. Here's the first question..."

Extra free-form option (works anytime)

If the user at any point says something like "Can I add a section about sustainability?", the AI should:

"Absolutely — I'll slot that in right after [Scope of Work], unless you prefer a different position?"

How blanks appear in the proposal

Instead of leaving pure white space, use a soft placeholder so the document doesn't look broken:

Digital Marketing Campaign Proposal for a New Product Launch Brief. 30.11.2025

Marketing Agency Proposal (Quick Proposal)

[Section intentionally left blank] or [Details to be confirmed]

This makes the exported document look deliberate and professional, even if data is missing.